Balkans, Nazi Wall Hit Again

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—American Liberators dumped bomb loads into German installations in the Pas-de-Calais area of France today and 500 to 750 U. S. heavy bombers smashed at five Romanian cities as the Allies' pre-invasion air offensive continued for the 22d day, despite miserable flying weather over the English channel.

It was the Americans' 12th consecutive day of heavy bomber operations from British bases, but once more it was only a small force, probably fewer than 250 bombers with an equal number of escorting Lightnings, Thunderbolts and Mustangs which hopped the Channel to hand Hitler's Atlantic Wall emplacements their sixth blow by heavy bombers in seven days.

BALKANS BATTERED

The Balkans bombing from Italy was much heavier. Liberators and Fortresses hurled explosives into rail targets and an aircraft factory in the non-stop Balkans assault.

They struck through a screen of German interceptors at Brasov, 75 miles north of Bucharest; Campina, site of oil storage and railway yards 10 miles northwest of Ploesti, oft-assaulted Turnu-Severin, rail bottle-neck on the Romanian side of the Iron Gate, and Pitesti and Craiova, rail cities on the Bucharest-Budapest line 70 miles northwest and 120 miles west respectively of the Romanian capital.

It was the first attack of the war on Pitesti and Craiova.

Some enemy aircraft were shot down.

The daylight blows followed a night in which British planes laid mines in enemy waters without loss and Canadian-manned Mosquito bombers on an offensive patrol over northern France attacked and severely damaged several parked enemy aircraft.

Dive-bombing Kittyhawks and Mustangs, flown by British, Australian and South African pilots, earlier had blasted the Pescara dam, spilling flood waters over German communications and defenses 10 miles beyond the Adriatic end of the long-dormant Eighth Army front.

At last reports a great wall of flood waters was moving down stream toward Pescara. The Germans had depended on the dam for electric power.

TOO FOGGY FOR NAZIS

The British-based U. S. Liberators did all their bombing in the Pas-de-Calais through an overcast so thick the German ground gunners did not even bother to shoot at some of the attackers. No enemy fighters were encountered.

Returning crewmen said they bombed pin-point targets along the French coast, going over in relays.

Armistice Terms Wait Final O.K.

LONDON, May 6 (INS)—The European advisory commission has nearly completed a long, detailed draft of armistice terms to be presented to a defeated Germany, the diplomatic correspondent of the London Daily Herald reported today.

According to the correspondent, U. S. Ambassador John G. Winant and British Foreign Undersecretary of State Sir William Strang have been working on a document embracing armistice terms and plans for the Allied military occupation of the Reich.

After final touches have been made to the document, it will be submitted to the American, British and Soviet governments, and when the Big Three have agreed on armistice terms, it will be submitted to other Allied governments, said the Herald.

RAF Ace Downs His 28th Plane

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—Wing Comdr. J. E. (Johnny) Johnson downed his 28th Nazi plane over France yesterday, becoming the leading ace among RAF pilots still flying.

Wing Comdrs. J. R. D. Braham and J. H. Lacy are tied for second place, with 27 planes apiece.

Reds to Strike Also on D-Day

By NATALIA RENE

MOSCOW, May 6 (INS)—The Russian high command today broadcast "eve of battle" orders to land, sea and air forces, indicating that the 14-day lull on the eastern front may soon be broken.

Fierce battles impend, the semi-official army newspaper Red Star commented, implying the state of quiet is temporary and filled with preparation for great undertakings.

Amid mounting speculation that Soviet forces are girding for a full-scale offensive to coincide with the opening of the second front in Europe, the high command reiterated the battle will not be won even when the last German has been driven from Russian soil.

TO INVADE GERMANY

"We will have to cross the Soviet state frontiers," the dramatic order declared. "Go forward and destroy the wounded beast in his lair."

(Berlin reported meantime the Red army has opened a major assault against the beleaguered fortress of Sevastopol but Moscow had nothing to say. A Pravda reporter cabled from the Crimea the port was under constant bombardment.)

THREE LAWS OF WAR

The Red Star listed the following factors as most important for success:

"1—Co-ordination in battle. In order infantry, artillery, tank forces, air forces and engineering troops may act smoothly in battle it is necessary to carry out special training. Co-ordination planned on paper is insufficient.

"2—The iron law of war is that not a step shall be made without reconnaissance. The enemy should be studied not only during battle, but long before it. Possessing detailed knowledge about the enemy, it is necessary to strike in the weakest spots.

"3—Maneuvering is an extremely important part of an offensive, particularly in its new and artful application, as proved by spring and winter battles."

Pacific War

Only Jap Gain Perils China

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

Two years after forcing a humiliating surrender on the defenders of the Philippines, the fighting forces of Japan today found themselves on the offensive in only one of five theaters of war. But that offensive contained a grave threat to China.

The enemy was engaged in a many-pronged operation in China's rich northeast region. In Chungking there was a feeling the operation had a grand objective: to knock China out of the war and remove it as a possible base for Allied attacks on Japan's home islands.

ALLIES GAIN ELSEWHERE

The Japs appeared to have won control of all but 40 miles of the Peiping-Hankow rail route, and to have shifted their main effort to capturing Loyang, rail crossroad to the northwest. The seizure of this junction would facilitate a drive upon Chungking, protected though it is behind great mountains and jungle.

From the other four theaters came reports of Allied success.

In India the British opened a general attack to clear the invaders from the Kohima area. Southeast Asia headquarters declared the Japs were thrown out of important positions around that Allied base protecting the Assam-Bengal supply route to China and Burma.

In Burma Gen. Stilwell's Chinese soldiers bowled over the Japs to advance down the valley leading to Mogaung. Enemy defenses in another part of the valley also were overpowered in the American drive to capture Mogaung and Myitkyina, enemy bases blocking junction of the Ledo and Burma roads.

AIR ATTACKS RIP JAPS

Gen. MacArthur and Adm. Nimitz maintained persistent air attacks on enemy bastions from the Kuriles, north of Japan, to New Guinea and the Marshalls.

MacArthur's fliers stepped up their attacks on the Schouten Islands—which stand between newly captured Hollandia and the Philippines. Southwest Pacific airmen also hit Wewak to Hollandia's rear, and Wadke Island to the west.

Some of the 60,000 enemy troops isolated in the Hollandia invasion were observed concentrating at Wewak.

Nimitz's Central Pacific air units hit Paramushiro, above Japan, and kindled big fires at the naval base. Other Nimitz forces hit Nauru, important as a phosphate producer; Ponape, east of Truk, and islands still held by the enemy in the Marshalls.

Two years ago today, Lieut.-Gen. Jonathan Wainwright surrendered on Corregidor.

Nazis Evacuate Italian Towns

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 6 (AP)—The Germans are reported to have evacuated all Italian civilians beyond the Fifth Army's main front for a depth of 20 miles, Allied headquarters announced today.

It was explained that this meant the evacuation of several sizable towns within the 20-mile belt.

In the lower Garigliano sector of this front, an increase in infantry action was reported and in the upper river valley an enemy patrol attempting to cross the stream in rubber boats was repulsed, it was announced.

On the beachhead and the Eighth Army front several minor clashes occurred. On the beachhead three German tanks and several buildings were knocked out by direct hits. At besieged Cassino, several enemy mortars and machine guns were silenced by Allied artillery

Nazis Not So Sure of Defenses

By PIERRE J. HUSS

HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES IN BRITAIN, May 6 (INS)—Hitler, after a stormy war council at Berchtesgaden, has accepted the Nazi high command's belief the Atlantic Wall will be pierced by the Allies and has ordered extensive shifting of troops to meet break-throughs with swift counter-offensives.

Hitler also has decided to sharpen the wehrmacht's fighting spirit through a new hate campaign designed to infuriate the rank-and-file German soldier against the coming American and British troops.

Field Marshal Rommel, on the radio today, said the invasion "must be reckoned as imminent" but that the Germans will meet it with new weapons and 'tactical measures which can be described as a complete novelty."

Denmark and Norway have been assigned important roles in the Germans' anti-invasion calculations. The Germans have rushed to completion many strong-points in Denmark, manning them with six divisions. Eight divisions have been assigned to Norway.

The Nazis claim Allied shipping is massing in Iceland, where they say American troops are jammed.

During his recent inspection trip, Rommel ordered the strengthening of Jutland's defenses. The barrier there includes triple anti-tank ditches 30 feet wide by 16 feet deep. Several fresh Luftwaffe squadrons were said to have arrived there.

The earlier Nazi conception that the Atlantic Wall would withstand overwhelming assaults has changed for three reasons: because the Russians cracked a replica of the belt around Leningrad; the Luftwaffe has been unable to cope with Allied air power; and realization, through exhaustive reconnaissance of Allied invasion activity, the second front assault will be on a tidal wave scale.

Ill Wind?

LONDON, May 6 (INS)—Nazi second-front jitters were momentarily soothed today as a result of the storm lashing the western European coast. Great wave rollers, so huge they would swamp any small invasion craft, have been churning the waters of the Dover Straits and the English Channel since mid-afternoon yesterday.

A Berlin broadcast, commenting on the gales, said "the German people can relax today as far as a channel invasion is concerned."

Miss Kennedy Bride of Peer

LONDON, May 6 (INS)—Kathleen Kennedy, 24, second oldest daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, former U. S. ambassador to the court of St. James, became the Marchioness of Hartington today in a 10-minute ceremony in the Chelsea register's office.

In a wartime wedding, the young American girl became the bride of the Marquis of Hartington, the 26-year-old son and heir to the Duke of Devonshire, and captain in the famed Coldstream Guards.

It was announced later the Marquis and his pretty bride were spending their honeymoon at Compton Place, Eastborne, the country residence of the Duke of Devonshire.

The bridegroom and other attendants were in military uniform and much of the gay color usually attending such ceremonies was lacking due to wartime conditions.

Further evidence of the war was seen in the throngs gathered outside to view the royal couple. Many American soldiers were among the crowds, and Miss Kennedy's fellow workers in the American Red Cross also were present.

ATTENDED BY BROTHER

Arriving at the registry office, Miss Kennedy was accompanied by her brother, Lieut. Joseph Kennedy, Jr., of the U. S. Navy. Much of the poise gained years ago when she was employed as a reporter on a Washington newspaper seemed to leave her as she mounted the stairway to the pink carnation-filled room where the ceremony was to take place.

The wedding ring was an old heirloom of the Devonshire family. No vows were exchanged before Registrar Frederick Stream.

Generally a religious ceremony follows the civil service in Britain when a "mixed" marriage occurs Such was not the case today, however. Miss Kennedy is a Catholic and the marquis is an adherent of the Church of England.

The Duke of Rutland, who served as best man, announced there would be no religious ceremony "today" and declined to elaborate.

200 GUESTS PRESENT

The reception, at which some 200 guests were present, was held at the home of Lady Hambleton because the Duke of Devonshire's town house had been devastated during the London blitz. Among the guests were the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, Lady Astor, Lady Elizabeth and Lady Anne Cavendish, the Marchioness of Salisbury and Red Cross fellow workers of the bride.

Miss Kennedy wore a delphinium suede crepe frock beneath a short jacket of brown mink, and a hat of pink and blue ostrich feathess.

The couple met while the bride's father headed the American embassy at London. When she returned to the British capital with the American Red Cross last year

GUNNER'S MATE ALTON BRENNAN AND SISTER NORMA
Sailor Back Home After 21 Months in South Seas

Navy Gunner's Home Reunion

After five major engagements during a tour of duty that reads like an account of the entire South Pacific campaign, 20-year-old Navy Gunner's Mate 2/c Alton T. Brennan had the good luck today of seeing two seagoing members of his family.

Four service stars hang in the window of his home at 30 Oak st., Charlestown.

His father, Joseph O. Brennan, 43, who recently left the Navy, with a medical discharge, and his brother, Joseph, Jr., 21, got a brief shore leave when his ship touched at the Navy Yard.

Alton, whose campaiagn ribbons tell the story of his helping to push the prow of his LCI (Landing Ship, Infantry), ashore at Tarawa, New Britain, New Guinea, Cape Gloucester, Lae, Finschhafen and Saidor, has been in the Navy for 2½ years.

In the past 21 months he has been attached to the Naval amphibious forces engaged in landing MacArthur's forces where they would do the Japs the least good and in his words:

"It is rugged work."

Just how rugged is indicated by the fact in the two weeks since he came home, corned beef and cabbage and other home cooked food has put 10 pounds on his six-foot frame.

Brought up within hearing distance of the bugles at Charlestown Navy Yard, Gunner Brennan comes of a family with a naval tradition. His father has fought with the Navy in two wars and he and his brothers joined the Navy as soon as they were old enough.

His older brother, Joe, is stationed aboard an aircraft carrier, and his younger brother, Norman, 18, has been at sea for 15 months on convoy work in the Mediterranean theater. Norman's twin sister, Norma, intends to join the WAVES.

Al has been spending his 30 days leave enjoying "all the things he missed," sleeping till 11, dancing and bowling with his high school sweetheart, Marie Powers, of Monument sq., Charlestown, and visiting relatives.

"You never realize how many you have till you try to visit them all," he says.

$35,000 Quincy War Plant Fire

Fire, accompanied by three explosions which rocked the building, today destroyed the Quincy Steel Casting Co., Fayette st., North Quincy, a plant engaged in war production. Damage was estimated at $35,000.

Perley C. Rogers, Davis st., Quincy, owner of the factory, and 10 workers were in the shop when the fire was believed to have started by an acetylene torch.

Rogers said he planned to rebuild immediately.

Girl's Torture Ended by Death

Merciful death, ending hours of torture, came to little Florence Ward in City Hospital today and brought to a close her gallant struggle to survive horrible second and third-degree burns.

No word of the eight-year-old child's death was allowed to reach her mother, Mrs. George Ward, who was burned in the same household blaze. She is under treatment at Choate Memorial Hospital, Woburn.

SCORES GAVE BLOOD

The mother continued to rally, buoyed by hope for her little girl. Members of the hospital staff said they had been advised by Mrs. Ward's physician not to tell her of the little girl's death for the present.

Florence had been kept alive since Wednesday by her own heroic spirit and more than 60 plasma

Although optates helped soothe her anguish, nurses and doctors could see evidenecs of pain racking Florence's body as her strength weakened steadily from the shock of the burns covering her from her face to knees.

Eariy last evening, she slipped into a coma and thus was spared the most intense suffering of the crisis. She died at 2:40 this morning.

POLICE AID FATHER

Police of Woburn, Medford and Boston provided transportation in record-breaking time for her father, a war worker, to the hospital, where Dr. George Bottomley, in charge of the case, made the sad announcement that Florence had passed away despite the most desperate efforts to save her.

Hundreds of blood donors, responding to an appeal issued by the Record-American on behalf of the little girl, were ready to report this morning at the City Hospital blood bank to make contributions to the plasma supply being built up for Florence, when she died.

Dr. James W. Manary, director of the hospital, expressed the thanks of the institution's staff for the unparalleled mass contribution of blood and the public's demonstration of interest in the case.

Even though the child's life was lost, the battle of hysicians and nurses to save her and the generosity of more than 200 blood donors were far from being in vain, since the case presented a striking example of how all available resources to protect life and alleviate suffering can be quickly mobilized.

As one doctor said, the rush of volunteers to give their blood "revived their faith in human nature."

Priest Declares Stalin Friendly

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, May 6 (AP)—The Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski of Springfield, Mass., conferred with Premier Stalin and Foreign Commissar Molotov again Thursday and today he described Stalin as "very friendly disposed toward the Roman Catholic Church."

The conference lasted two hours.

Winding up a 12-day visit to the Soviet Union, the Polish-American priest said that Catholicism would remain the religion of Poland and that "Stalin will not tolerate any transgressions in this regard."

Fr. Orlemanski, who is pastor of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary Church in Springfield, lauded the Russians as a "wonderful people" and Premier Stalin and Foreign Commissar Molotov as "great men."

He expressed thanks for the "democratic reception" he had during the visit, which, he confirmed, was made as a guest of the Soviet Government.

TREND OF THE CHURCH?

Fr. Orlemanski appeared to consider assurances of Stalin's attitude toward the church as the most important result of his second meeting with the premier.

He appeared unworried by criticism in the United States. Informed that Cong. Lesinski had called him a traitor to the church, Fr. Orlemanski shrugged and said:

"I wonder what the Polish people are saying about me."

He declined to say when he would return to the United States or to disclose his immediate plans.

The Soviet press did not publish his statement but did print the text of his speech broadcast over the Moscow radio yesterday to the people of Poland.

That address contained the same assurances concerning Stalin's attitude toward future Poland but did not include the phrase that Stalin is "very friendly disposed toward the Roman Catholic church."

Fr. Orlemanski, who prefaced his speech to the Poles with the greeting "dear fellow countrymen," remarked he was a Polish-American priest with three brothers who also were priests.

UNITED AS GREAT POWER

"If workers all over the world are organizing and daily improving their lot, it is necessary that Polish workers keep pace with them, otherwise they will become victims of misery and isolation," he said.

"The Polish clergy ought to manifest maturity regarding world problems. Friendship with Germany is excluded. Russia is our nearest neighbor. Let us stretch out our hands to one another. Let us live in friendship and amity.

"We are Slavs. Allied, Poland and Russia will become the greatest power in the East. Ths alliance will bring immense advantages to both Poland and Russia. We will secure peace for centuries."

Declaring the "dawn of liberty already is rising," Fr. Orlemanski concluded his speech with a salute to the United States, the Soviet Union and "free, strong, independent, democratic Poland."

Fr. Orlemanski, who had previously conferred with Stalin and Molotov for two hours April 28, said the results of his second interview were "beyond my expectation." He had characterized the result of the first conference as "excellent."

Priest's Own Statement

MOSCOW, May 6 (AP)—Text of a statement today by the Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski:

I salute and congratulate the Soviet Union republics on their achievements in our common war effort. Indeed, they are wonderful people.

On my way to the war front through the Ukraine sector I've witnessed the terrible destruction and ruins the enemy left behind. Nevertheless, I've found the people happy and contented, courageously looking into the future for better days to come.

I support and agree with statements made by my fellow Americans concerning the Soviet Union republics. Unquestionably Marshal Stalin is a friend of the Polish people. I'll also make this historic statement—that future events will prove that he is very friendly disposed towards the Roman Catholic church.

"Poland should not be the corridor through which the enemy passes and at will destroys Russia," said Stalin.

He really wants a strong, independent, democratic Poland to protect herself against future aggressors. He has no intention of meddling in the internal affairs of Poland. All he asks for is a friendly Poland.

As to religion, the religion of our forefathers shall be the religion of the Polish people and Marshal Stalin will not tolerate any transgression in this regard.

At Sumy I visited the new headquarters of the Polish army. During my stay nearly 8000 new recruits arrived from Tarnopol and other recently liberated localities. The Polish army is an independent unit and wholly supplied with the best equipment by the Soviet Union.

At present, Roman Catholic priests are administering to needs as chaplains. The Bishop of Lutsk has promised more priests in the near future.

Again, I was in conference two hours with Marshal Stalin and Mr. Molotov. The results were beyond my expectations.

Marshal Stalin and Mr. Molotov are two great men. I fully appreciate and I am very thankful to both of these gentlemen for the democratic reception I received during my stay in Moscow.

Priest and Professor Reds' Guests, Says Hull

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull revealed today the Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski of Springfield, Mass., and Prof. Oscar Lange of Chicago made their visit to Moscow at the invitation and expense of the Russian government.

This was disclosed in a letter from Hull to Rep. John Lesinski (D.) of Michigan, who wrote Hull asking why passports were issued to the clergyman and the professor.

Fear Gandhi, Free, Is Now Near Death

BOMBAY, India, May 6 (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi, Indian Nationalist leader, was released today from the Aga Khan's summer palace in Poona where he had been detained since August, 1942.

The government earlier announced its decision to release the 74-year-old leader unconditionally in view of the condition of his health. Gandhi had failed to recover after an attack of malaria. The British had confined him for political activity which they regarded as hampering India's resistance to Japan.

The Chronicle, Bombay's leading Nationalist daily, said editorially: "We wholeheartedly congratulate the government of India on its decision to release Gandhi."

The English-owned Times of India said that full credit for the decision must go to Lord Wavell, viceroy of India, who "once again has shown himself a man of quick decisions when action is called for."

BELIEVED NEAR DEATH

In view of the country-wide appeals for Gandhi's release in the last several days, Lord Wavell's prompt move increased his prestige.

(In London, it was pointed out that fear of Gandhi's imminent death apparently inspired the British to free him. His death in internment, informed sources said, undoubtedly would lead to serious trouble, causing a new crisis in the already tense Indian situation.)

In New Delhi, Gandhi's son, Devadas, said he believed his father is seriously ill and possibly near death. But he added he had not been in written communication with his father and had no official information concerning his condition except what has appeared in brief communiques.

EXPECTS OTHERS FREED

"I don't believe my father will find much satisfaction in being released on medical grounds alone," Devadas Gandhi said. "There is a question of justice as well and the Indian people will expect the release of other leaders.

"There is a close parallel between my father's case and the recent release of Oswald Mosley (British Fascist leader released last November), in England.

"When Mosley was freed the home secretary stated more or less as a clear matter of policy that a man in prison whose very life is endangered must be released. Therefore we expected the government must, sooner or later, take the same position respecting my father."

Cite Bay State Fliers in China

Four Greater Boston men, fliers serving in China under Maj.-Gen. Chennault of "Flying Tiger" fame, have been decorated in company with a number of other New Englanders, the Associated Press announced today from Chennault's base.

An Air Medal Oak Leaf Cluster was awarded Capt. Irwin Basen, Sewall ave., Brookline.

Air Medals went to Lieuts. Joseph P. Baglio, Roslindale ave., Roslindale; Frederick E. Sweeney, Kingston st., Somerville and Adolphe N. Barnably, Union ave., Boston.

The citations were given during February, March and April but were withheld from publication until now, for security reasons.

Other Bay Staters honored were: Sergt. James L. Lane, Walnut st., Lowell, the Distinguished Flying Cross; Capt. Dana M. Hill, Commonwealth ave., Haverhill, Oak Leaf Cluster, and three men who received the Air Medal—Lieut. James C. Vurgaropulos, Gold st., Lowell; Sergt. Harry B. Queen, Onset and Sergt. Deno Keniert of Newell st., Pittsfield.

Rhode Islanders included Lieut. Morton Sisk, Emery st., Providence, Purple Heart and Air Medal; Lieut. Henry F. Portyrata, Florence st., Providence, Air Medal; Lieut. R. A. Tondreau, Pales st., Central Falls, Air Medal, and Sergt. Joseph L. Smith of Berkeley, Air Medal.

Distinguished Flying Crosses were awarded to Capt. George T. Grottie, Wigwam lane, Stratford, Ct., and Lieut. Nicholas Kowto of Shelton, Ct. Two other Nutmeg State fliers were honored, Pvt. John V. Brennan, Victoria rd., Hartford, receiving the Purple Heart, and Sergt. Sidney C. Spencer, Beaverbrook Heights, Danbury, the Air Medal.

Air Medals were given to Lieut. Grant C. Pratt, Pownal, Vt., and Sergt. Carl H. Pitrainen, West Paris, Me.

Fights Lowell School Ouster

LOWELL, May 6—Vincent M. McCartin, ousted from his $7000-a-year school superintendent's post at a 1 a. m. session of the school committee yesterday, defiantly reported for work today.

But so did James F. Conway, who was named as his successor.

Throughout the day both men occupied the office and went through the motions of running the school department.

Miss Katharine L. Carmichael, chief clerk and mainstay of the office, was having none of it. She stayed home.

McCartin and Conway spoke to each other but neither addressed the other as "superintendent."

The voted-out McCartin, who has been in office 11 years, got off a letter to the school committee, challenging its action. In ousting him, the committee demoted him to the rank of teacher, dropping his pay to $2800.

"Your action in attempting to demote me was contrary to law," he wrote the committeemen. "I will continue to perform the duties of superintendent of schools."

N. J. Crash Kills Everett Man

A 49-year-old Everett father of two servicemen was killed today and his companion injured when their automobile was in collision with a heavy Army truck near the Broadway ramp of the Pulaski Skyway, near Jersey City, N. J.

Police said the victim, Chauncey Lewis, 49, Liberty st., Everett, was the driver of the car.

Lewis was driving William Patchell, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Patchell, Clinton st., Malden, to Philadelphia.

At Jersey City Medical Center, Patchell was reported suffering from severe cuts of the face.

Besides his widow, Addie F., Lewis is survived by a son, Flight Officer George L., 27, with the Army Air Corps in Nebraska; and another son, Soundman 3/c Malcolm E., 18, now in the South Pacific.

After collision with Lewis' car, the Army truck collided with a second car from Newark, critically injuring its two passengers.

Meat Rationing Seen Off For at Least Six Months

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—There probably will be no rationing of most meats and canned foods for at least six months, and if it is restored the form will be different, the American Institute of Food Distribution predicted today.

"If the time comes when rationing is needed again," the nonprofit research agency declared, 'there may be three programs instead of two, with fats and oils separated from meats and the whole program greatly simplified in the light of present experience."

The institute said the problem of supply was not as pressing as it was a year ago and that there had been an "about face in regard to demand—consumers are no longer hysterical."

"Likely butter, dairy products and fats cannot be taken off the ration," the organization said, "but meats and canned goods will not be put back on the old basis unless there is an unexpected return to the type of wartime frenzied demand that gripped the public early in 1943."

The AIFD said Col. Bryan Houston, chief of rationing in the ofice of price administration, has a theory there is no need for rationing a product when supply is within 85 per cent of probable demand and this week "was able to sell his theory to Marvin Jones, war food administrator."

"Mr. Jones was not too hard to convince," the institute continued, "because he saw the need of cellaring heavy stocks of cold storage items and also believed increased public buying is necessary if the farmers and processors are to be encouraged to go all out for another year of maximum production."

Instead of feeling it necessary to build up large food stocks, the government now emphasizes "getting controls on a workable basis" and "promoting maximum production but on selected items so that total production will be in better balance with requirements," the agency added.

Police Clear Trunk Murder Suspect

CHICAGO, May 6 (INS)—Police established today that Ricardo A. Mora, 26, who frequently used the name John Lopez, was not the "John Lopez" who shipped a trunk containing the body of a murdered woman from Chicago to Los Angeles.

Lieut. Phil Breitzke, chief of the police homicide squad, cleared Mora after he was faced by the American Railway Express clerk who accepted the trunk for shipment at 1 a. m. Sunday.

The clerk, Charles R. Heniff, said that the "John Lopez" who appeared at the Dearborn st. station, accompanied by a 12-year-old boy, was about 42, and much heavier than Mora.

Mora, authorities said, admitted he had once lived at the Fleetwood Hotel in Chicago. A towel bearing the name of the hotel was found in the death trunk.

Push Nation-Wide Hunt For Trunk Murderer

LOS ANGELES, May 6 (INS)—A nationwide hunt for a "John Lopez" was under way today as the probable perpetrator of a gruesome trunk murder mystery that rivals the bizarre Winnie Ruth Judd case of 13 years ago.

Authorities waded through a welter of clues to identify the victim, a woman whose nearly nude body was crammed into an old trunk and expressed from Chicago to Los Angeles last Sunday.

Yesterday when a railway express clerk, noticing fluid seeping from the trunk, opened the container to investigate, "out popped a leg."

So far there has been nothing to indicate who the woman was, but jammed in around her body apparently to hold it in place were numerous articles of clothing, a towel from a Chicago hotel, a rug and other articles.

With this profusion of leads, detectives expressed confidence the woman's identity soon would be established.

The trunk was shipped from Chicago by "John Lopez" and was consigned to him in Los Angeles, with the notation he would call at the express office.

The mystery victim was 30 or 40 years old, 5 feet 3½ inches tall and weighed about 135 pounds.

The body was clad only in a pair of white bobby socks, a girdle and a pink brassiere.

Billerica Man Held In Hubby Shooting

LOWELL, May 6—Frank Corvi of Boston rd., Billerica, 49-year-old proprietor of the Everglades roadhouse there, pleaded not guilty today to assault with a dangerous weapon on Richard A. Holyoke, this city.

Corvi, who produced bail of $300 and was released for hearing May 20, was arrested by Billerica police today as the result of a shooting at his home.

Police said Holyoke, who is hospitalized with a bullet wound in his left hip, told them he went to Corvi's home early yesterday in search of Mrs. Holyoke.

Police later found Holyoke wounded. He told them Corvi had shot him.

Holyoke's wife, Eleanor, 25, has been working at Corvi's roadhouse.

Forest Fires Hit 5 N. E. States

Forest fires, raging through five New England states, threatened woodlands in tinder-dry areas today and hundreds of acres throughout Massachusetts were already reduced to ashes.

In Sharon, a second fire flamed through the woodlands since early morning, covering an area of more than 1500 acres. According to the state forestry department, the fire was rekindled by shifting winds from the blaze that swept the Stoughton and Sharon areas yesterday.

A forest fire in the Miles Standish forest, in Plymouth county, was still smouldering, after devastating 1800 acres. Firemen from Plymouth, Carver, Wareham, Kingston and Duxbury were standing by in case shifting winds would sweep the flames to nearby dwellings. Two firefighters, Harold Williams, 23, and Bura Higgins, 52, suffered burns.

In Keene, N. H., hundreds of firemen and volunteers, including Army and Navy units, patrolled the fire-ravaged forests, after more than 3500 acres had been destroyed.

Pneumonia Kills Siamese Twins

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., May 6 (AP)—To Joyce and Sandra Stierly, tiny blonde girls doomed never to have a separate existence, death came as a release today from the bonds that joined them at their birth six days ago.

Joyce, the larger and apparently stronger, ceased her labored breathing shortly after midnight and Sandra, whose circulatory weakness foretold an early end to the struggle for life, died a few minutes later.

Theirs was the only birth of Siamese twins ever recorded in Pennsylvania and the way in which their gaunt bodies were joined—with heads at opposite ends of the crib—was said by doctors to be almost unprecedented.

The twins' widowed mother, Mrs. Mary Stierly, 24, who wept when she learned how their bodies were linked, wasn't to be told of their death until later today. Her husband, Harold, was killed in a motorcycle accident two months ago.

Dr. J. Elmer Gotwals, who delivered the twins, said they contracted pneumonia although hot water bottles and electric heating pads surrounded them from the first.

Gossard Heads Quincy Schools

Dr. Paul B. Gossard, 47, superintendent of the Bloomington, Ill., schools, today was elected superintendent of the Quincy school department, succeeding James N. Muir, who retired May 1.

The post pays $7100 a year.

A school superintendent for 15 years, Dr. Gossard was graduated from Ohio Statae University, and obtained his M. A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago.

Collier Crash Wrecks Coal Pier

Veering off her course today as she moved up Mystic river, a collier smashed into the Metropolitan Coal Co. loading platform in Chelsea causing damage estimated at more than $100,000.

The accident occurred when the ship failed to turn for the Chelsea North drawbridge opening. The ship held to her course, crashing through the debris and coming to a stop at the Gulf Oil Co. retaining wall protecting huge tanks of oil. No one was injured.

$3,450,570,000 Fund For Lend-Lease Asked

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today to appropriate $3,450,570,000 to carry forward the lend-lease program for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1945.

He also requested any unexpended balances of previous lend-lease appropriations be made available, which would make the aggregate for the new year $7,188,893,000.

Which Is It?

By International News Service

It's spring, midsummer or winter today—depending on what part of the U. S. you live in.

It is summer in New York, where sweltering residents looked forward today to promised relief from an unseasonable hot spell of several days' duration, with the mercury hovering above the 80 mark.

But it's winter in the Midwest and parts of West, with snow in Kansas City and Iowa and a thermometer reading of 18 recorded at Mobridge, Neb.

The mercury dropped to 34 in Chicago yesterday.

Pool Operator Fined $2000

The maximum fine of $2000 and a six-month suspended jail term were imposed of Jeremiah Murphy, 68, Birch st., Winthrop, today by Municipal Judge Adlow on charges of registering bets and possessing lottery slips.

The action followed Murphy's withdrawal from an appeal from two consecutive six-month terms imposed several weeks ago. Murphy, characterized by police as "kingpin" of lotteries, paid the fine.

With 13 other men and a woman, Murphy was arrested April 12 in a series of raids. He was found parked in his car on Dover st., South End, with $800 cash in his pockets and 300 winning lottery slips in his possession, police said.

Mrs. Kennedy Declines Comment

On the border of collapse from recent illness, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy left here for New York today by plane to meet her husband, declining comment on the civil wedding of her daughter, Kathleen, to a British peer.

Twice while waiting for the takeoff, she was escorted to a rest lounge, one by her father, former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald and again by Joseph Timilty, ex-police commissioner.

Mrs. Kennedy complained several times of dizziness. She had just left the New England Hospital, where she had spent two weeks for what hospital officials described as a "general, routine checkup."

She turned away all queries about her daughter's marriage to Lord Hartington in London with, "I have nothing to say."

Mrs. Kennedy was dressed in black and carried a silver fox neck piece over her arm. Mrs. Fitzgerald, her mother, was in the farewell party.

Mrs. Kennedy planned to meet her husband at LaGuardia Field, New York, and later spend at least a month at Hot Springs for a much needed rest.

Waltham Man Dies at 105

Only six weeks after he passed his 105th birthday, Thomas J. Monahan of Brown st., Waltham, believed to be Massachusetts' oldest resident, died today in his home after a short illness.

Until his final illness, the centenarian enjoyed excellent health and maintained an active interest in current events. He was a native of Maine and lived most of his life in Waltham where he was employed as a machinist until 1921 when he retired.

Besides his wife, Mr. Monahan leaves six children, 21 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren.

Boys' Town Priest Posts Killer's Bail

HUMBOLDT, Ia., May 6 (AP)—Twenty-five $1000 bills were posted in district court as bond for the release from the state penitentiary of Dorn Machovec, 16, sentenced to life imprisonment after pleading guilty to the murder of his step-father, Paul Voss.

The bond was posted by James W. Fay attorney, who said he was acting for the Rev. Edward J. Flanagan of Boys' Town, Neb. The bond will permit Machovec to gain his release from prison pending appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Fay said the money was offered to Fr. Flanagan "by an Omaha man vitally interested in the youth and his future." He declined to name the man.

Dist. Judge G. W. Stillman refused Fr. Flanagan's request for custody of Machovec when the youth was sentenced April 15, but the clergyman said earlier he was "still hopeful of having the opportunity of helping rehabilitate Machovec."

The attorney said it was the largest bond ever filed in Iowa in a second degree murder case. Authorities have quoted the boy as saying the shooting resulted from family difficulties.

Plan Union Row Plea to F. R.

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The War Labor Board today threatened to refer a wage dispute of AFL machinist and CIO steel workers involving shipyards in the San Francisco area to the President for action.

WLB Chairman William H. Davis said the dispute of Lodge 68, International Association of Machinists, AFL, and Local 1304, United Steel Workers of America (CIO) concerning rates of pay for repair and new work would be taken up immediately with CIO President Philip Murray and AFL President William Green.

If not settled the matter will be referred to the President.

Unanimous decision of the board came after officers of the locals involved did not appeal at a WLB hearing.

Legion Rallies All To Advance GI Bill

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 6—By means of telegrams to all state commanders, Adjutants and national executive committeemen, American Legion officials today sought to rally 1,250,000 Legion members throughout the country to urge passage of the "G-I bill of rights" in the House without cripling amendments.

The telegram, signed by Francis M. Sullivan, national legislative director of the Legion, called for passage of the measure as it is reported by the House veterans' committee.

"While the committee has amended the Senate bill in many respects, it would be better to urge all House members to vote for the bill as it came from committee, oppose all amendments proposed from the floor, and let it go to conference with the Senate committee," Sullivan advised.

He particularly urged Legionnaires and friends and relatives of service men in general to demand that their congressmen fight any move to substitute a bonus scheme for any part of the G-I bill.

Scheduled for House action next week, along with the "bill of rights," is the Barden veterans' education bill which authors of the G-I measure claim duplicates provisions of the rehabilitation program.

Cong. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, House majority leader, has announced that he is saving next Thursday and Friday for consideration of the G-I bill.

The measure is expected to pass Friday, then go to a House-Senate conference committee. The committee report will probably be accepted by May 17, with the result that the bill will then go automatically to the President for his signature.

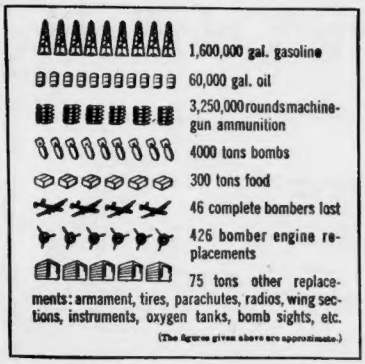
As a Liberator pilot put it:

"One of their cities is missing!"

1 40 minutes ago, there were Nazi factories down there. Now there are no factories. Not even a city. For the last of 1000 Allied bombers has just dropped its block busters. Back of this bomber sweep is a story not many people know. It has to do with the terrific problem of supply in waging aerial warfare. For example...



1,600,000 gal. gasoline
60,000 gal. oil
3,250,000 rounds machine-gun ammunition
4000 tons bombs
300 tons food
46 complete bombers lost
426 bomber engine replacements
75 tons other replacements: armament, tires, parachutes, radios, wing sections, instruments, oxygen tanks, bomb sights, etc.
(The figures given above are approximate.)

2 Above, you get a rough idea of the cost, in material alone, of sending 1000 4-engine bombers over Germany. How can Bomber Command replace this vital material? Answer: That's where Air Power's three teammates come into the picture—the train, truck, and ship...

3 If your sleeper is shunted to a siding, remember this: it is probably being held up to let a fast freight streak through with gasoline, spare bomber engines and parts, bombs, food, and ammunition. In this relay race to Victory, the railroads of America are doing a magnificent job!

4 Slogging along at a snail's pace, protected by Liberators, a never-ending convoy of cargo ships becomes the life stream of Air Power. They bridge the Atlantic with supplies to keep the bombers fanning out over Germany. If a cargo is sunk on the way over, a duplicate cargo is usually on its way within 48 hours!

5 The truck, along with the railroads, delivers the goods to the convoys. At the British air bases, again it is the truck that lugs in the gas, bombs, food, spare parts, and so on. In this drama of train, ship, truck, and plane pitching in together for Victory, there is a lesson we must not forget:

6 In rebuilding the peacetime world, all forms of transportation must continue to work together. And the plane will have still another responsibility: it can play a vital role in enforcing global peace. In short, a permanent postwar Air Force is America's best insurance for a lasting peace.

Because of the City Council's failure to take action on a Boston Elevated license petition, the bus line now operating between Maverick sq. and Logan Airport, East Boston, will have to be discontinued on May 16, according to El officials.

It was explained that the El wishes to continue the line, but will have no authority to do so after its temporary 60-day license expires May 16.

Court Extends Injunction Against Wards

CHICAGO, May 6 (AP)—Federal Judge William H. Holly today extended his order restraining oficials of Montgomery Ward & Co. from interfering with government control of the huge mail order frim's Chicago plants.

The judge said he would rule at 10 a. m. Wednesday on the company's motion to dissolve the restrainer and the government's plea to have it replaced by a temporary injunction.

The time for Judge Holly's decision is a day after a NLRB election, set for Tuesday, to determine whether the CIO United Mail Order, Warehouse and Retail Employes Union still represents a majoriyt of nearly 6,000 eligible employes.

George B. Christensen, Ward attorney, said he had opposed Judge Holly's action and had requested the court to decide the injunction phase of the case before the election.

"There is a question whether the election would be valid while the employes are employes of the U. S. government, as they are under the sweeping terms of President Roosevelt's order for seizure of the properties, because the National Labor Relations Act specifically excludes U. S. employes from its operations," Christensen told reporters.

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn declined today to divulge the probable membership of the House committee which will investigate government seizure of the Montgomery Ward plant in Chicago, but indicated that he would announce the seven names Monday.

The inquiry was ordered yesterday by a 300-to-60 roll call vote. Rep. Dewey (R.) of Illinois, author of the resolution ordering the investigation, was considered almost ctrtain to win a place on tht committee, which will include three Republicans and four Democrats.

...or winning a welcome in Wailuku

Here's health is the happy expression of Hawaiian hospitality. Just as friendly is the Have a "Coke" of the Army flyer. In a few words he says, We are pals. In Wailuku or Wichita, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the symbol of friendly-minded folks in many lands, just as it is when you serve it in an American home.

The Railroad "Land Grant"

as seen by Santa Fe

★ To speed the settling of the West, our nation wanted railroads pushed across great unsettled areas to develop rich but distant regions and to bind the country together for military and other reasons.

In the 1850's and 1860's, to encourage railroads to push their tracks into the undeveloped territory, Congress granted the odd sections on each side of the track to the railroads, with certain "strings" attached, and these grants varied in depth up to several miles.

The even sections retained by the government were for the most part sold to settlers at a substantial increase in price.

The Land Grant policy was very helpful in getting the railroads started in those early days. BUT!!!

Isn't it out of date today?

In return for their Land Grants, the railroads were required, for all time to come, to haul government passengers, freight, and mail at rates far below those applicable to ordinary traffic.

Since the Land Grants were made, railroads have paid out in reduced rates on government traffic many times the amount they have received from these Land Grants.

In the case of the Santa Fe, here are the figures: In more than 80 years which have elapsed since the Land Grants were made, Santa Fe's net realization from these lands has been about $23,000,000. In 1943 alone, the government received from Santa Fe, in the form of rate reductions, approximately $40,000,000.

Many governmental agencies as well as private shipper groups are convinced that the time has arrived for the entire repeal of these burdensome Land Grant requirements.

Anne Lindsay Weds Today

By BETTY ALDEN

REV. SAMUEL MacAULEY LINDSAY is officiating at the marriage of his daughter, Anne Brooks Lindsay, to Alexander Greenleaf Rogerson in Brookline Baptist Church at 4 this afternoon. A small reception follows at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Lindsay.

Given in marriage by her mother, Anne is wearing traditional ivory satin with a long illusion veil bound with satin and carrying an ivory prayer book with orchid markers. Mrs. Gardner Corey Brooks of Norwood and Mary Savage of Milton are the honor attendants and the bridesmaids are the Misses Dorothy Garritt, Joan Wallace, Ann Childs and Mrs. Walter Caskey. All are wearing white taffeta with white beaded bands in their hair and carrying snapdragon shaded from pale yellow to flame.

Philip Campbell Rogerson is best man for his brother and John Rogerson is head usher. The others are Lieut.-Comdr. James Estabrook of New York who married Martha Rogerson; Warren Bennett, Nathaniel Brackett, Cornelius Lansing, William MacAusland, Jr., and Lawrence Raisz, classmates of the groom at Harvard Medical School.

The bride graduated from Beaver Country Day and attended Radcliffe with the class of '46. Mr. Rogerson, son of Charles Milton Rogerson of Milton, was in the class of '45 at Harvard before entering the service and belongs to Hasty Pudding-Institute of 1770 and Phoenix S. K.

WEDDING IN TEXAS

Deep in the heart of Texas Beatrice Seabury, beautiful and popular Boston post deb, is being married today to Pfc. Robert Lovett Sturgis, scion of a distinguished Gotham family and grandson of Mrs. Robert Lovett of Boston.

The bride is the daughter of Lieut. Howland Seabury, USNR, and Mrs. Seabury of Beverly Farms whose wartime residences have included California and Virginia. When she made her debut in 1942 history repeated itself. The party was given by Miss Sarah Guild and her brother, Mr. Courtenay Guild, who some 20 years before had introduced Miss Seabury's mother, then Rosamond Johnson, to Back Bay society at a traditional debutante party.

The bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. Frank Seabury of Beverly Farms and the late Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott Howe of Boston. She graduated from Miss Porter's and belongs to the Junior League and Vincent Club.

Pfc. Sturgis, son of Mrs. Lovett Sturgis and Mr. Henry Sprague Sturgis, is a brother of Lieut. Henry Sturgis, Jr. He graduated from Brooks and was in the class of '45 at Harvard.

Such lovable and attractive cottons as checkerboard ginghams . . . eyelet embroidered batiste . . . powder-puff muslins . . . lawn . . . organdy . . . sturdy pique . . . gabardines and broadcloths will be footlight offerings of de luxe presentation.

Star of the show will be Miss Linwodd Lelane Gisclard . . . vivacious and charming 1944 Maid of Cotton . . . in Boston that day as a stop in her 20,000-mile tour of the nation . . . spreading the gospels of cotton, conservation and war bonds.

WONDERFUL COMBINATIONS

With cotton truly Queen of summer materials and comfort . . . fashions simply but smartly styled from them can help you achieve undreamed of femininity in clothes for coolth and comfort.

Many of the Hollywood gals have gone all out for cotton . . . and you'll find at least two pieces of clothing in every lovely's wardrobe . . . usually a white cotton poplin dressy dress . . . so perfect for summer evenings. What you can do in color combinations of cottons . . . dramatically accented by accessories . . . is really remarkable.

Dress Up Your Potatoes

By MARTHA LEE

POTATOES ARE still a way up high on the list of plentifuls. They are a cheap energy food and besides the starch, iron and other minerals they contain, they are also a source of vitamins C and B.

If baked potatoes are your favorite, here's the way to make them perfect:

Wash and dry potatoes of as nearly the same size as possible. Put into a medium-hot oven and bake until tender—40 to 60 minutes. For soft skin, rub a little fat on the potato before putting it in the oven. Save fuel by baking while other foods are being oven-cooked. Cook with any baked dish except one calling for a very slow or very hot oven. After cooking, cut criss-cross gashes in the skin on one side. Then pinch the potato through the broken skin. Drop in meat drippings, bits of crisp-fried salt pork, butter or margarine.

For an extra special, cut large baked potatoes in half, scoop out the soft part, mash and season with fat, hot milk and salt. Stuff back into the potato shells, brush the top with fat, and brown in the oven.

And for a change from the old standbys, there's potato puff or potato hot-pot.

POTATO PUFF

To 3 cups mashed potatoes, add 1 egg yolk, hot milk to moisten, 2 tbsp. melted fat, salt and any other seasoning you like. Beat well. Then fold in 1 stiffly beaten egg white. Pile lightly into a greased baking dish. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) 30 minutes or until puffy and brown.

POTATO HOT POT

3 cups sliced or diced potatoes
1 medium-sized onion, sliced
2 tbsp. fat
3½ cups tomatoes
1½ tsp. salt
Pepper

Cook the potatoes and onion in the fat 10 minutes. Add the tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer 25 to 30 minutes, or until potatoes are tender.

For variety, add a cup of cooked green beans during the last 10 minutes of cooking, or add a dash of chili powder or a few sprigs of thyme, or sprinkle with a little grated cheese, just before serving.

FRIED POTATOES, COUNTRY STYLE

Peel and slice thin, enough raw potatoes to make 1 quart. Put in a frying pan with 2 tablespoons of melted fat or meat drippings. Cover closely. Cook over medium heat 10 to 15 minutes or until browned on the bottom. Turn and brown on the other side. If desired, brown a little chopped onion in the fat before adding the potatoes.

POTATO SALAD

3 cups sliced or diced cooked potatoes
1½ tbsp. chopped onion
⅓ cup finely chopped celery or cabbage
1 hard-cooked egg, diced
Cooked salad dressing

Mix ingredients together lightly. Let stand one hour in a cold place. Makes 6 servings.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON — Yesterday, in coming out on the front porch of the White House, I was suddenly struck with the perfection of pink tulips around the fountain, and on the south porch of the White House we look out at a blaze of red tulips.

These tulips have a special meaning for me, since they were the gift of the eminent historian Dr. Hendrik Van Loon. They were sent to him from his beloved Holland. He offered them to the White House. He felt that as these tulips grew and flourished, it would be fitting to say that they had been presented by a good American historian who came from Holland to a President, some of whose forbears also came from Holland many generations ago.

FOR THE MOTHERS in this country I want to quote from a mother's letter. She wrote it in answer to a letter of sympathy written to her by a friend, after the death of her son in the service of his country.

"Your letter I put aside to reread to draw sweet comfort from it. No, we only lose the earthly being of our children, not their hearts or souls. They live on. God in His goodness loans us our children for our greater happiness. Tom (her husband) and I are so much richer for having had him. He was a wonderful son and a gallant soldier. When I lost a little son a few years ago, Tommy came to me and said: 'Don't cry, Mom. Heaven would be dull with just old folks. I know he is now lighting some corner with his glorious Irish smile. My faith, which is strong, like yours, thanks to God's great goodness, is carrying me on.

"I can feel Tommy walking by my side each step of the way with his great love and understanding. We were great pals, I shall miss him terribly, but I know he has gone to prepare a place for me in his Father's mansions.

"Into each life some rain must fall, and that makes us stronger and better men and women. The thought has occurred to me so many times these past few weeks—why couldn't the men who are to sit at the peace table settle it all before it started? There are many, many questions we cannot answer, but I am sure our dear Lord is suffering as we are."

Paper Salvage Contest Begun

Massachusetts today accepted [redacted] challenge from Ohio state salvage officials to engage in a waste paper collection contest, and all 351 salvage chairmen in Bay State communities urged citizens to redouble their efforts in saving paper for the war effort.

The Ohio challenge was contained in a telegram received from James G. Lewis, executive secretary of the Ohio General Salvage Committee, WPB, which read:

"Ohio challenges Massachusetts to a waste paper salvage contest beginning May, and continuing each month thereafter to determine which state can show the greater increase in its monthly percentage total of waste paper salvaged during 1944, exclusive of industrial paper. We start from scratch with you today.

"Ohio believes with you in participating in the coming invasion by doing our part here at home this month and every month until the war is won. Waste paper is America's No. 1 critical salvage material and collections must rise. Ohio says: 'Beat us if you can.'"

Immediate acceptance was wired by B. G. Waters, Jr., secretary of the Massachusetts Salvage Committee, who declared "we are ready and eager to show our heels to you in this contest."

You do someone a real favor when you stay off Long Distance lines from 7 to 10 at night. When a lot of people do that, a lot of service men's calls get through quicker.

The soldiers and sailors—their folks back home—and the telephone company are all grateful for your help.

So tonight and every night, "give seven to ten to the service men." That's about the best time they have to call.

Less Said, Less Dead

THE ENEMY wants to know what is happening here in the United States.

He wants to know about troop movements, war production, ship sailings and training plans.

The more he knows, the more American boys will not come home.

There are people in this country who are enemy agents—watching, listening, reporting.

Thousands more are helping without realizing what they are doing.

Mrs. Smith's son gets his sailing orders.

Mrs. Smith talks about them at the market, on the street car or in the street.

Mrs. Smith thus helps the enemy.

Mr. Jones enjoys being a "big shot" with inside information.

Mr. Jones talks in a crowded restaurant or to a chance acquaintance.

Mr. Jones helps the enemy.

There is one safe way of frustrating the Axis spy or eavesdropper.

If you have read it in a newspaper or magazine or if you have heard it on the radio, it is safe to talk about.

If not—no matter who told you, no matter what you saw for yourself, no matter how good your guess—DO NOT REPEAT IT TO ANYBODY.

WACs Favored as Wives

WACs will make better wives than women who lack military training.

That is the opinion of Lieut.-Col. Walter H. E. Jaeger of the Army Industrial College in Washington.

The colonel voiced it a few days ago at a conference on war and postwar problems and added this explanation:

"Husbands will have something of the military about them throughout their lives. The increased appreciation and understanding that a former member of the Women's Army Corps will bring to the household should be an invaluable asset in the search for happiness."

We are not prepared to go as far as this officer. There is an abundance of good wife material outside the WAC organization.

But it is logical to believe that a former WAC and a former soldier would have like tastes, like memories and a common bond of practical patriotism that should contribute immensely to enduring matrimony.

WASHINGTON, May 6—I have heard whispered insinuations in various parts of the country that the British are inclined to be haughty and stand-offish, if not downright stuck up. But, if you want my opinion, I think they are a very put-upon people.

In dealing with my British cousins (this is only a figure of speech as I really don't have no British cousins, only a couple of Canadian ones) it has been my experience that they are generally shy and retiring, but with a wonderful sense of humor. They are ready to exchange a quip or a gag on 48 hours' notice.

It is my conviction that the average Briton in this country only acts uppity in self-protection, or maybe to live up to his advance billing. More often than not, it seems to me, they are very perplexed and bewildered fellows.

For instance, Richard Haestier, American correspondent of Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express, had a most distressing experience only today. Into his office in the Bond Building here stalked a vague looking woman. She stared around the place, then at Haestier, and asked:

"Is this room 514?"

"No," said Haestier, "this is room 532. The number is on the door."

"I know that," said the lady.

Dumbfounded, but managing to retain his old Oxford courtesy, Haestier arose and said: "If you are looking for another office in the building maybe I can help you find it."

"No," said the lady. "I know where it is."

This got poor Mr. Haestier so nonplussed he couldn't have said "Beaverbrook" without stammering. Not that he habitually goes around saying "Beaverbrook" you understand, because he is a very clean-tongued fellow, but you get what I mean.

He was completely flabbergasted but finally the old spirit of noblesse oblige, or whatever it is, reasserted itself. He drew himself up as stiffly as a Buckingham Palace guard being offered a tip and said:

"In that case, Madame, I wish you a very good morning!"

The lady moved toward the door, but there she halted.

"Hah!" she sniffed. "Bloody snooty British!"

I AM GLAD to learn that I have a reader who is as baffled as I am. He is Mr. Clinton E. Marshall of 187 Lafayette st., New York, and, if he can only get some time off, I wish he would come down here so we could sit around and bleed for each other. He writes:

"I wish you would do a little investigating for me on a matter that is of vital importance to me and to the United States Government. My problem is this:

"I have just received from the U. S. Coast Guard a form to be filled out and sworn to, certifying that I, C. E. Marshall, am a citizen of these United States. I have sent in this filled-out form and now I am afraid that I am in serious trouble, for I am not at all sure that I am C. E. Marshall, or that I was born in this country.

"You see, the reason I am not sure that I am C. E. Marshall is that I have no positive proof that I am. My father tells me he is my father and my mother tells me she is my mother, and both of them tell me I am their son, but you can easily see that this is only hearsay evidence and, of course, not admissible in any court.

"Now they both tell me that I am their son. Admitting that they had a son whom they named C. E. Marshall, how do I, or even they, know that I am their son? My father wasn't there when I was born. My mother was in no condition to know what was going on, so all they have is a doctor's word for it, and maybe the child that was born to my mother was a good-looking baby, and maybe the nurse decided that a good-looking baby should go to some friend of hers who also had a baby not so good-looking that day, so perhaps I am the offspring of somebody else's mother and father and a hoax was perpetrated on my parents.

"Who knows the true facts in this case except the nurse, and maybe, while her back was turned, somebody shifted the babies again, and she is probably dead now anyway?

"Now that you have read my difficulty can you prove that you are George Dixon? How do you know that we did not have the same mother and father and that we are relatives?

"Perhaps you are not in the frame of mind to look into this matter now, but perhaps after you have been a bit longer in Washington you will be properly attuned mentally to see my trouble in its true light and then perhaps you can find time to give it the proper attention. Sincerely."

THE ONLY COMMENT I wish to add is that Mr. Marshall is undoubtedly one of the great thinkers of our time. What logic! What clear, cold ratiocination!

The sweetest honey
Is loathsome in its own deliciousness
And in the taste confounds the appetite:
Therefore, love moderately.
—SHAKESPEARE.

IT WAS Ovid who said: "He who loves is a slave; he who is loved is a master." Keep that in mind, young fellow . . . Do you know what a "floogie boo" is? It is a worry bird. That is, according to the language of the jitterbugs. I am indebted to a Miss Florida Edwards of California for this information. For the present, we shall pass by the interesting fact of a girl named Florida living in California. As I am something of a "worry bird" myself, that "floogie boo" designation interests me. Do you worry? Maybe if we could get together enough worry birds we could form a floogie boo club. Then we could meet on blue Monday evenings, tell our troubles to each other and get them off our chests.

ASIDES: The average cost of a birth in England is five pounds ($20) and of a funeral 20 pounds ($80) . . . A waiter of many years' experience says Americans are by far the best tippers. I knew that. But then he also says the Norwegians are the second best tippers. That's news to me . . . It was Abraham Lincoln who said: "I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives. I like to see a man live so his place will be proud of him" . . . Kay Fay of Ventura, Cal., has been made a member of the My-Name-Is-a-Poem Club.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Take Dennis Day. Is he really appreciated? I rate Dennis right up there with Crosby, Kenny Baker and Sinatra. He is a very good comedian, too. Did you hear him sing that Irish song on a recent Duffy's Tavern program? . . . On her trip to entertain the fighting men on the European fronts, Marlene Dietrich wore slacks. Marlene told a reporter: "This is my first pair of slacks. I usually wear men's pants."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—To decide an argument in our outfit, could an antelope beat a thoroughbred race horse in a mile race? A—An antelope can run about 59 feet a second. A race horse about 54 feet a second. But the race horse in making this speed carries a man. The antelope carries no weight. If I had some records of how fast horses have run with no weight to carry I could answer your question. However, with no weight for either animal in a mile race I would be inclined to bet on the horse. In a five-furlong race my money would go on the antelope.

HOUSEWIVES, ETC.: Now being widely discussed is the matter of a 43-hour week for housewives. Also, the idea of paying said housewives a regular salary, plus time and a half for overtime. This discussion has been going on for some time. I can remember when a lad hearing a pair of vaudeville comics discuss it. Said one: "Suppose the wives dissatisfied with conditions went on strike." Said the other: "Suppose they did. Think what would happen when the husbands began bringing in blonde strikebreakers."

SIDELIGHTS: A fighting man in the South Pacific writes: "My girl friend clips your column and sends it to me. Reading it down here in the jungle reminds me of the happy days when I read it coming home from work in the New York subway" . . . Now whisky made in Panama is being retailed in the United States. Before the war Scotch whisky made in Japan was sold in California. The Japs had their whisky in pinch bottles in perfect imitation of the Scotch from Scotland.

TWO-A-DAY: Vaudeville of the good, old-fashioned kind, still seems to flourish in England. Have just been looking over The Performer, an English vaudeville trade paper. Among the acts listed are Cawlini's canine comedians, Frank's famous fox terriers and Ray Royal's amazing cats.

HOLLYWOOD, May 6—The most ambitious picture Monogram has ever tackled is "Little Devils," a saga of China's fighting children, to be made with the aid and cooperation of the Chinese Government. The big news is that Madame Chiang Kai-shek will do the foreword, which calls for a world premiere in Washington.

Betty Hutton

W. Ray Johnston, president of Monogram, says the courage of these children is unbelievable. There are more than a million of them organized as guerilla fighters and their chief work is done behind the enemy lines, particularly in sabotage. They also help the regular army in caring for the wounded and in aiding civilians of bombed towns. Their ages range from 6 to 16.

★ ★ ★

IT'S MORE THAN romance and a hankering to see Betty Hutton that brought her admirer, Charles Martin, to Hollywood. He has signed a deal with MGM to write, direct and produce. He is the author of "Double Furlough," which David Selznick is making, and was a writer at the Hal Roach studios before he went to New York. Speaking of Betty, she is arranging a test of her sister, Marian, who would play the other half of a sister act in vaudeville with her in "Torch Song." "Torch Song" is an original by Milton Holmes, author of "Mr. Lucky."

"A LIKELY STORY" is the appropriate title for the short story Jay Dratler and Earl Felton sold M-G-M. I'll say it's a good title, for the two boys were paid $50,000 for the mere idea, and that is a top sum. The way M-G-M became interested in the bright comedy was through Robert Young. The two authors told him the story and he in turn related it to one of the studio heads. Result is it was bought for Bob, who gets the lead. The idea is about a man who sues his wife for divorce because he is jealous of another man she meets in her dreams.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: The next surprise wedding in Hollywood will be George Brent and Janet Michaels. George is the marrying type and usually means matrimony when he concentrates on one girl. I have heard he and Miss Michaels, who is a nonprofessional from San Francisco, have already named the day and will slip away in a few weeks to have the knot tied.

★ ★ ★

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Veronica Lake's health is of concern to her friends; Loretta Young's elaborate stork trousseau will be used again, she hopes; Jim Jordan, Jr., son of Marian and Jim Jordan (Fibber McGee and Mollie), showing Carmelle Bergstrom around the town; Lana Turner, the unpredictable, hostess at a dinner honoring Mrs. Frank Sinatra; Sally Eilers finishes her movie next week and goes on to Chicago to join her bridegroom, Lieut. Howard Barney. Please send your suggestions for Edgar Bergen's new dummy to Charlie McCarthy, 1620 No. Vine st., Hollywood, Cal.; the new Bob Hope comedy gets the title of "Princess and the Pirate"—not bad.

Boston After Dark

THE OLD TOWN OF BOSTON is about to lose a character, if the auguries are correct . . . Henderson Bros. and Moore have sold the Fensgate . . . The Fensgate is a hotel on the Boston fringe of the Charles, a beautiful hospice . . . But the Fensgate's beauty would have been lost to widespread enjoyment had it not been for the character which Boston, unhappily, is about to lose . . . The character is Arki-Yavensonne, a picturesque, promotional pixy who has been really running the Fensgate since the day five years ago when he took over its management . . . Arki really ran the Fensgate . . . He would not, for instance, permit as much as one member of the ownership firm to inhabit its premises while he was, in his own colorful idiom, "the king of the boat."

★ ★ ★

MUCH AS HOLLYWOOD GLOATS in its proprietorship of Gregory Ratoff, Henderson Bros. and Moore loved and tolerated their Arki-Yavensonne . . . They "stood still for the rap" (as a Damon Runyon character might phrase it) while Arki spent $25,000 on a venturesome night club that was destined to win national fame under the name, the Satire Room . . . The Satire Room charged 90 cents for Coca Cola . . . And $2.50 for a drink of good brandy . . . Satire Room? Yes, indeed! . . . Yet the folks flocked to it in such weight that the Satire Room was a winner.

★ ★ ★

HIS HOTEL WAS A STAID lady in lavender and old lace among the more alert inns of Boston-town when Arki took over . . . It had no liquor license, to cite one item it lacked before the Yavensonne regime . . . Arki had the temerity, nonetheless, to intrude himself on spending Bostonians as a host . . . His guests ate at the demure Fensgate that used to be, and some of them returned for an acid dose of more of his hospitality.

★ ★ ★

ARKI WAS swimming obviously, the time when his hotel would be able to cater to epicures of both food and drink . . . In the matter of entertainment, this very persuasive entrepreneur with the funny name insisted on the best . . . the best which $75 a week could buy. (His budget would permit very little more) . . . The Satire Room played such acts as Irwin Corey, Elsie Houston, Patricia Bright, Elsie Lancaster, Alkah Ike and Noble and King . . . And Boston's best piano accompanist, Neil Phillips, has been a fixture at the Satire Room . . . Arki hired some ravishing beauties as waitresses, cajoling them into working for him by dubbing them "The Satirettes" . . . He charged $1000 in war-bonds for seats at a New Year's Eve celebration . . . He boasted about the Satire Room's policy of charging top prices and its maintenance of the bemoaned 30 per cent tax when other places in Boston were outbidding one another for newspaper advertising to herald the news that there was no 30 per cent tax on their respective premises.

★ ★ ★

ARKI WAS DEBONAIR in a Hollywood - Yavensonne style that restricted competition . . . Prospective imitators simply lacked the courage to burst forth in imitations of Yavensonne ensembles . . . He actually glowed . . . All in all, Arki has been what any big town needs—a character . . . But this hotel has been sold to another interesting guy named Bernard Snyder . . . And Arki is being moved to foreign parts—Florida or Georgia or someplace . . . He is being moved, it might be said, with his full consent . . . Whatever his bosses decide is seemly as his fate, that is acceptable to the Sam Goldwyn-ish ex-manager of The Fensgate . . . But some of the "best people" are remonstrating . . . They want Arki to be "held over" in Boston . . . This department certainly seconds the many sponsors of the "Keep Arki" crusade . . . Joe Timilty, the former police commissioner, would certainly second the motion . . . Arki was of tremendous help in arranging those great shows for servicemen which Joe and George Clarke inaugurated when the war was young . . . Whatever stopped the trio from continuing to function?

HOLLYWOOD, May 6—The performers were in a chatty mood as I wandered about the sets. Ralph Bellamy, while waiting to do a scene for "Guest in the House," spoke about the Irishmen's Club.

Ralph Bellamy

Now, if you're hep to your Hollywood you know about the Irishmen's Club. It consists of James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Frank McHugh, George Murphy, Ralph Bellamy and occasionally Frank Morgan. They get together when they're all in town on a Wednesday night for dinner. They are just a group of friends meeting. They have no by-laws and no officers. They chat about the movies and the theater and, as Bellamy put it, "it doesn't take us long to get around to our favorite topic of conversation—women."

"Well," went on Bellamy, "a few years ago a certain Congressman, who was investigating subversive organizations in Hollywood, heard about the Irishmen's Club. And he figured that while he was in town he'd look into this organization.

"I was there," continued Bellamy, "when he went to see Cagney and asked him what the Irishmen's Club spoke about at those meetings. 'You know,' the Congressman went on to explain, 'I might call on you to testify in Washington.'"

It was then that Bellamy said to the Congressman. "If you want me to go to Washington and tell what we talk about on Wednesday night—it would probably mean the end of my career and yours."

SPENCER TRACY, a member of the Irishmen's Club, was on the set of "Mrs. Parkington" when I entered.

He wasn't there to look over Walter Pidgeon or Greer Garson. "I came to see Selena Royle," Spence said. "Selena was one of the few people, when I was in stock, who thought I might some day amount to something on the stage."

He also recalled that years ago Miss Royle helped him obtain a job with a stock company in Providence, R. I. After eight weeks, she still believed in Tracy, but the manager didn't.

When Miss Royle came over, after completing her scene, Tracy spoke about this incident, and then asked, "Do you remember why I got fired?"

Miss Royle couldn't recall.

"The manager told me I had no sex appeal!" said Tracy.

"It just goes to show you how wrong managers can be," said Miss Royle, smiling

Martin Pattern

You little boy will be proud as Punch of his suit, Pattern 9184! The cute ruffles are optional. Use same easy pattern for overall version.

Pattern 9184 comes in sizes 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6. Size 6, shirt, takes 1 yd. 35-in. Shorts, 1¼ yds. Overalls, 1⅞ yds. Sunsuit included with pattern.

This pattern, together with a needlework pattern of useful and decorative motifs for linens and garments, 20 cents.

Send 20 cents in coins for these patterns to Boston Evening American, 21, Pattern Department, 232 West 18th st., New York 11, N. Y. Write plainly size, name, address, style number.

Ten cents more brings our 1944 Marian Martin Spring Pattern Book. New, easy-to-make styles. Free pattern printed in book.

Jack Conway's column of sports appears every day in the Boston American.

VERA ZORINA, currently starring in a local stage hit, may also be seen on a neighboring screen next week when "Follow the Boys," moving into Keith Memorial Theater on Wednesday, takes you on an overseas tour of the camps with her. George Raft and quantities of talented screen celebrities.

N. E. OPA Officials To Meet With Bowles

OPA officials in the New England states prepared today to meet with National Administrator Chester Bowles in New Haven, Ct., next Tuesday for a discussion of rationing problems.

Bowles arrives in New Haven, Monday, to deliver the annual Lamont Lecture at Yale. Tuesday afternoon he will confer with state directors and in the evening will meet informally with members of Connecticut ration boards at a buffet supper. Bowles was Connecticut's OPA director before he became national administrator last summer.

Service Entertainers Not Under Travel Ban

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—United service organizations entertainers can return to the United States whenever they complete their tours the Army said today. It was explained Britain's civilian travel ban does not affect them since they are operating with the Army.

Actor James Cagney who has been entertaining troops here already has left England, it was disclosed.

Lynn G. E. Engineer Gets Science Award

Dr. Sanford A. Moss, of Lynn, General Electric consulting engineer, today held the 1944 award of the Engineering Societies of New England, Inc., for his pioneer work in developing the turbo-supercharger, a vital factor in increasing the height, range and speed of American fighter and bomber planes.

In making the award at the organization's annual dinner at the First Corps Cadets Armory, Pres. Harold C. Hamilton cited Dr. Moss for "exceptional service to our nation throughout a period embracing two world wars."

"The Cross of Lorraine," starring Pierre Aumont, and "Where Are Your Children?" teaming Jackie Cooper and Patricia Morison, are to be seen on the Beacon screen, starting tomorrow and through Wednesday.

Seven Acts Feature Globe's Sunday Bill

The Globe's 1-to-11 p. m. Sunday vaudeville bill schedules seven smart acts including Kelly and Hayes, Monte and Lyons, Brown and Lee, Eddie Howard and Co. and Charles Willis. Billy Cronin will serve as master of ceremonies.

'Hitler Gang' Stars Arrive Monday; Luncheon Guests

The film replicas of Hitler gangsters Hitler, Goebbels and Goering will invade Boston on Monday when a special press luncheon at the Copley Plaza Hotel is to be given them by Paramount officials.

They are Robert Watson, Martin Kosleck and Alexander Pope, stars of Paramount's sensational motion picture, "The Hitler Gang," a serious biographical study taking Hitler and his henchmen from the close of World War I to their ultimate emergence to full power in Germany after the 1934 purge. The film is to have its New England premiere at the Paramount and Fenway Theaters on May 25.

"The Hitler role," according to Joseph Sistrom, producer of the picture and last week's guest here, "was the most difficult casting problem but there were others that were not to easy. The faces of Goebbels, Goering and other Nazi leaders are so familiar to the American audience, the actors simply had to resemble them closely. For the roles of Himmler and Goering, the final choice had to be actors completely inexperienced in movie work."

The Nazis themselves, strangely enough, provide the original inspiration for this narrative on the Hitler and Nazi beginnings. Buddy De Sylva and Sistrom looked at a German propaganda picture, "Oom Kruger," a South American picture giving the British an awful lacing. They decided someone should make a picture about the Nazis.

Cape Girl Wins Scholarship

Winning a competition in which Junior Victory Army members affiliated with the Massachusetts 4-H Clubs participated, Betty Ann Goodall of Cotuit will receive the Cotting Memorial Scholarship for 1944-45.

This scholarship, according to Horace M. Jones, state 4-H club leader, pays all expenses during the freshman year at Mass. State College in Amherst and is awarded annually by the New England Farm and Garden Ass'n to an outstanding 4-H girl in the New England states.

Betty will graduate this June from Barnstable High School where she has had a scholastic record of straight A's and B's. During her 4-H career, she completed six clothing projects, one home furnishing and one hostess.

She is president of the Barnstable County 4-H Service Club, a Sunday School teacher and secretary of the Junior Red Cross Council at Barnstable High School. Upon graduation she expects to work as a 4-H county club agent.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 228 Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Look for the next JVA story in Sunday's Advertiser.

Racing Stable Success; Sage Writes on Cycling

By AUSTEN LAKE

LIEUT. (sg) WESTON ADAMS, currently home on furlough, enjoys the rare prestige of being a junior Navy officer who operates a profitable string of racing steeds. This is accounted a considerable feat even among the horse owners who give 100 per cent of their waking time to the tricky business. But the secret of Weston's recent success traces to his astute dad, C. F., one of the canniest sport brains in the American scene.

Last autumn Jr. Adams telephoned his pop from a navy base at Galveston, asking doubtfully what he should do about his stable? He couldn't, he said, run it by remote control. "Only thing to do," advised his sire, "is to buy more horses." Then the elder Adams went south to the Lexington, Ky., auctions, picked up 12 yearlings, which in his eye had the earmarks of good blood. Three of them, in six starts at Pimlico thus far, have won four races, including their "maidens" and the $5000 Aberdeen Stake. That would be Flying Bridge, two firsts and a third; Son Admiral and Kewy Dee, one first each, Shove Off, in its initial start, ran out of the money. The total take to date is around $10,000, or a fair share of the purchase price for the entire dozen.

C. F. Adams

One and Only 'Doc'

CURRENT ISSUE of the "Review of Cycling" carries a fine essay by Dr. Walter G. Kendall, the Wollaston horticulturalist, sportsman and philosopher who will turn 90 on July 1. Doc is a man with a spring in his step and a clear speculative eye. The tips of his white mustache are neatly pointed. His stomach is flat and his spine erect.

Now he is the only living charter member of the Wollaston Golf Club and the Boston Bicycle Club, whose annual "Wheel about the Hub" is as much of a tradition as the B. A. A. marathon. I set my calendar by the annual event, although the Bike Club exists only as a sentimental lavendar and rosemary in ancient "Doc's" mind.

Years ago (1878) lads in tight britches, candy striped stockings, and tasseled caps mounted their high, iron steeds and rolled away for picnic snacks and rounds of "innocent merriment" at Boston post houses. Most of the old boys have long since faded into Time's mists. A few snow-capped elders still make the sentimental journey for the sake of old memories. But the Doc, like the poetic brook, goes on forever, his love of living still undimmed.

The Ladies, Bless 'Em!

TODAY IS LADIES DAY at Braves Field, the day when our most luscious citizens enjoy access to the ball park free and gratis. Few folk know that Bob Quinn was first to conceive the notion that it would be good for the ball business to let ladies come F.O.B. into his ball park. At the time he was promoting the St. Louis Browns, which the male population of the city regarded as no special treat and stayed away in such large numbers as to create naked sections in his stands. So Bob opened his gates one day each week and invited the ladies to bring their sewing and sit in his most expensive seats at no cost to themselves. Of course he had a motive in doing this beside sheer love of the ladies. He thought that the distaff side, with their propensities for babbling might glorify some of his stumblefoot athletes and excite other ladies, plus their gents, to come on paydays and thus open a hitherto untapped field in the business.

Well, the other firms of the major leagues were quick to copy Bob's novelty and presently the ladies in some 16 cities were staking their dishes and leaving the linen for an extra soak while tugs shoved off to the ballyard. They paid back the firms for free admission by whoops that were sometimes more motherly than emotional, treating the inept stumblefoots like victorious heroes. In many cities the ball teams never heard a kind word except on Ladies Day. Which is about where the Boston ball teams are now.

Memory's Mendicant

TUTHER DAY when old Sam Langford was presented with a modest trust fund barely enough to keep him alive, the pitiful husk of a once splendid brute said simply, "Thanks. Ah value th' friend more'n th' money." Old Sam, possibly the best man at his weight who ever lived, was victim of a barbaric ring era and one who, through his need to eat, let many inferior whites win graceless decisions. He lost his sight gradually after Fred Fulton crushed his optic nerve during latter age and from then on fought by a sort of prize ring Braille method, waiting until he was hit and timing the spot from whence he thought the blow came.

His blindness remained undiscovered until by this take-and-give system, he knocked an opponent through the ropes and, unknowing that his man was lying cold in the press row, went on shaping and bobbing and weaving to meet an attack that never came. So they knew then, as he fumbled and feinted alone in the ring, that old Sam's lights were out. Now sightless and feeding on the crusts of charity he stands as memories' mendicant.

Flabby Flippers

CURIOUS CHARACTERISTIC of powerful athletes is a handshake that feels limp and moist as fresh caught haddock. Recently Tony Galento greeted the writer with a paw like a flaxseed poultice, warm and mushy. Yet tops in this line was Joe Louis. The world's pre-eminent mauler who has jellied half a hundred jaws, has a handclasp resembling lukewarm molasses. Most fighters, fearful of bruising their hands with too fervent admirers, cautiously give you the tips of their fingers.

Browns' Star Catcher Has Broken Finger

CLEVELAND, May 6 (INS)—Manager Luke Sewell of the league leading St. Louis Browns reported that Myron Hayworth, rookie catcher, will be forced out of action for at least a week by a broken finger suffered in the game with Detroit.

Hayworth, has been sharing first string duties with Frank Mancuso, X-rays taken in Cleveland revealed the practure sustained on a foul tip, Sewell said.

Expect Slow Track For Kentucky Derby

CHURCHILL DOWNS, LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6 (AP)—Threat of a muddy track for the running of the 70th Kentucky Derby vanished as the day broke moderately clear and cool, with a welcome sun trying to peep through the haze that hung over historic Churchill Downs.

The prospects were, however, that the track, drenched by a 36-hour rain that ended yesterday noon, would be slow.

With the hard-riding Eddie Arcaro aboard, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree Stable star Sir Up, remained a 7-to-5 favorite in the field of 19 top-ranking 3-year-olds.

The field, largest to enter the starting gate in seven years, remained intact at noon. The owners of doubtful starters held off scratching their entries pending changes in track conditions.

EXPECT 16 TO GO

But it was considered likely that no more than 16 would accept the issue. If 16 go to the post, the owner of the triumphant thoroughbred will haul down $64,675, biggest purse in the history of the nation's premier turf classic. Shut Out hauled down the biggest purse to date, $64,225, in his 1942 victory.

As the gates of Churchill Downs opened at 7 a. m., hundreds of early arrivals poured through, seeking spots of advantage in the infield, giving indications that the crowd would exceed 60,000. Top coats felt comfortable. Some even lugged blankets along to protect themselves from dampness and chill resulting from the downpour.

The first wager on the Derby when the mutuel betting windows opened at 10 o'clock was made by Capt. M. B. Cooper, a dental surgeon attached to nearby Breckinridge Field. He tossed in $10 on Pensive to win.

BETS ON JONES HORSE

He said he didn't know anything about the horse, but was an admirer of Ben Jones, its trainer, who has saddled two Derby winners—Lawrin in 1938 and Whirlaway in 1941.

The scene presented a decidedly military atmosphere with 800 state militiamen guarding the inside rail all around the track, and keeping the excited spectators 10 feet back. There also were 300 bluejackets from the V-12 Naval Unit at the University of Louisville swarming the infield in front of the finish line. They were guests of Col. Matt Winn, the 83-year-old director of the Derby.

Milwaukee Fans Facing Brand New Experiences

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—Milwaukee's baseball-minded burghers, who have seen plenty of sensational stunts, should have some brand new experiences when Casey Stengel adds his talents to those of Marine Bill Veeck . . . all they need is to get Joe Engel there and call it "Hellzapoppin."

The Washington Redskins should not have much trouble with the rules next fall. Shorty Ray, the pro league's rules adviser, learned his football from Coach Dud De Groot's father at Lewis Institute (now a part of Illinois Tech) some 40 years ago.

It cost only $5 (or less) to see the Sal Bartolo-Phil Terranova featherweight title fight at Boston last night. In New York the word "title" alone would be worth $16.50 tops.

TODAY'S DERBY TIP

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stir Up, the favorite, is quartered in the same stall from which Shut Out went to win the 1942 Derby.

Edgar Busch, Athletics' shortstop—a .300 hitter, which is a pretty good recommendation for any rookie . . . He broke into pro ball with Lafayette, La., in 1938 and moved up until he played most of last season at Elmira, N. Y., where he hit .303. Got a late season trial with the A's, batting .294 in four games, and started off well this spring, though he's been alternating with Bob Wilkins lately . . . at any rate, Busch is out of the bushes.

SPORTSPOURRI

Wilbert Robinson was offered a contract with a Yankee farm club but turned it down. He's no relation to the former Dodger manager, but a 16-year-old local boy who has done some good pitching for City College of New York . . . The "700" bowling clubs of America, composed of guys who have rolled 700 scores, starts its national telegraphic tournament tomorrow . . . Prosperity note: Freddie Corcoran reports that promoters who used to try to shave the P. G. A. $5,000 minimum purse for golf tournaments now say "We can do better" when he suggests 10 G's . . . The baseball coach at Power Memorial high school in the Bronx is brother R. B. Power . . . But what's the use of all that power if you don't get the pitching?

SERVICE DEPT.

Chuck Fenenbrock, the Detroit Lions' little halfback, didn't believe the medicos when they classed him 4-F. He demanded another examination and now he's in the Marines . . . the Ottumwa, Ia., Naval Air Station baseball team should do a fair job of baseball stealing. The Sea Flyer's coach is Lieut. Merle Makeever, who stole 74 sacks for Moline, Ill., in the Old Mississippi Valley League in 1925 and Athletic Director Lieut. Jimmy Kitts pilfered 39 in the East Texas League in 1924 . . . Lieut. L. D. Meyer, who played quite a bit of football for his Uncle "Dutch" at Texas Christian and who played baseball for the Detroit Tigers, has been named manager of the Fort Worth, Tex., Army Air Field ball club.

Bartolo Saves Title By Split Decision

By JACK CONWAY

Sal Bartolo is still holder of the NBA world's featherweight championship as a result of his victory over Phil Terranova, in a 15-round battle at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden.

A crowd of 7673 persons paid $23,132 to see the tussle. The net gate after taxes was $17,657.

Bartolo saved his title on a split decision. Referee Tommy Rawson voted for Terranova, while Judges Jimmy McCarron and Eddie Curley cast their ballots for Bartolo.

HOW OFFICIALS VOTED

Referee Rawson gave Bartolo five rounds, Terranova seven and declared three even. His vote in points was 143 for Terranova and 141 for Bartolo.

Judge Eddie Curley only gave Terranova two rounds. He voted six rounds for Bartolo and declared seven sessions were even. In points, Curley gave Bartolo a score of 148 and Terranova a count of 143.

Judge Jimmy McCarron saw Bartolo out front in seven rounds, Terranova in five and scored three rounds as even. His point table favored Bartolo by 145 to 142.

This writer's score card gave Bartolo eight rounds, Terranova six sessions and called one round even. We thought Bartolo had the margin in the first, third, fifth, sixth, eighth, tenth, twelfth and fifteenth sessions.

TERRANOVA SCORES

Terranova carried the honors in the second, fourth, seventh, ninth, eleventh and fourteenth chapters. The thirteenth round was even.

While Bartolo won, he didn't have much of a margin in his favor. If Terranova had been successful in carrying the fifteenth round, he would have been entitled to at least a draw. In the fourteenth round, Terranova staged a rally that had Bartolo backing away. Terranova scored with heavy blows to the head and body.

Bartolo sensed he was in a bad spot, and opened up with flashing speed in the fifteenth round. He boxed his way out front.

Terranova thought he won and he was visibly disappointed with the decision. The former champion had fought a hard, determined fight after being almost knocked down by a savage left hook to the jaw in the opening round.

Bartolo could have made it an easy fight by remaining at long range and boxing his opponent. Instead he permitted Terranova to get to close quarters where he had an opportunity to score with sharp blows to the body.

Both boxers were guilty of hitting after the bell on several occasions, while a couple of Terranova's punches were low. These blows were landed in the heat of combat and were not scored intentionally.

Terranova landed with several hard right hand smashes to the jaw as Bartolo moved forward. In the fourteenth round, when Terranova was making his drive for victory, he slowed Bartolo down with a right hand belt to the jaw.

Bartolo weighed in at 126 pounds, while Terranova was half a pound lighter.

Bartolo and Terranova started off at a fast pace in the first round. Bartolo electrified the crowd when he sent a crashing left hook to the jaw which dazed Terranova. He followed it up with a right to the jaw, and then barraged with both fists to head and body.

Terranova finally got to close quarters and weathered the round. In the second session, Terranova crowded Bartolo, banged away with both hands to the body and won the round.

In the seventh round, Terranova opened a gash over Bartolo's right eye. He made the injured eye a target in the next session, and Bartolo was fortunate the wound did not open up again.

Terranova started his surge in the thirteenth round when he drove to close quarters and counted with heavy blows. Then came his big round, the fourteenth, when he outscored Bartolo by a decisive margin.

With possible victory within his grasp, Terranova bowed to Bartolo's speed and skill in the fifteenth.

Victor Costa of New York received the decision over Jerry Darby of Long Island in the semifinal of eight rounds.

Eddie deAngelis, Revere, 126, defeated Blonde Tiger, Lowell, 127.

Ralph Regan, Medford, 161½, KO'd Carl Schultz, 163½, Hartford, Ct., one.

Steve Kronis, 126, South Boston, stopped Paul Powell, 132, Providence, R. I., one round.

Vic Costa, 140, New York, defeated Jerry Darby, 131, Long Island, in 8 rounds

Armstrong, Zanelli In Garden Bout

Hammering Henry Armstrong has been signed by Matchmaker Rip Valenti of the Goodwin Club to clash with Ralph Zanelli of Providence at the Garden, Friday night. In a recent meeting between these welterweights in Boston, Armstrong won a close decision. Zanelli attributed his defeat to the fact he had to take off two pounds on the afternoon of the match as a result of a misunderstanding over the fact the weight for the tussle was 145 pounds.

Dedicate New Coast Guard Boathouse

NEW LONDON, Conn. May 6 (AP)—The Coast Guard Academy's new boathouse, a one-story structure on Jacob's Rock, will be dedicated today as a highlight of the opening of the two-day New England dinghy championship regatta for the Coast Guard alumni bowl.

Dartmouth, Yale, and Holy Cross, former winners, and Coast Guard Academy, Brown, Harvard, M. I. T., Northeastern, New Hampshire, Tufts and Williams, were listed to compete in the regatta.

Stengel Takes Over Brewers

MILWAUKEE, May 6 (AP)—Jolly Cholly Grimm left Milwaukee and his American Association champions for the road back to Wrigley Field and the pilot's post with the Chicago Cubs today.

But there was promise the Brewer faithful would not have long to brood over Grimm's leaving as Casey Stengel, one of the few men whose antics in baseball compare to that of Milwaukee's favorite Dutchman, became boss of the Brewers.

With Stengal, one-time Boston Braves and Brooklyn manager, as his successor, Grimm was ready to take over the last place Cubs in time for tomorrow's doubleheader. Yesterday he agreed to fill the post which he formerly held for six years and which was vacated this week by Jimmy Wilson.

GRIMM "SMART CLOWN"

Grimm and Veeck took over at Milwaukee in June, 1941, and in 1942 the club was in the flag fight up to the final day, Kansas City dropping the Brewers out of first place for the pennant. Last year the Brews finished first and currently lead the league with 10 wins and two losses.

The combination split up last winter when Veeck, son of a former Cub president, enlisted as a marine private.

The jovial Grimm, who yesterday accepted the Cub managerial job after a meeting with Gallagher and Cub Owner Phil K. Wrigley, plans to return to the coaching line at third base.

"From third, I can wave runners into home," said Grimm, who was dismissed as Cub field boss in 1938 after leading the team to two National League flags in a six-year managerial term.

Although the Cub front office says it will not announce any contract signing, Grimm undoubtedly wil laffix his name to a pact before tomorrow's doubleheader opens.

The contract is understood to call for a three-year term at a salary of $25,000 annually—$5000 more than the reported pay of Jimmy Wilson, who resigned as manager Monday.

Both Roy Johnson, who was a coach under Grimm from 1935-1938, and Milt Stock will remain on the staff.

Schooling Races Start at Raynham

Raynham Park will be open to the public tonight when the first set of schooling races are run in preparation for the fifth season of racing under the auspices of the Massasoit Greyhound Association, which opens Monday night May 15. There will be 30 schooling races tonight the first starting at 7 o'clock.

General Manager Russ Murray cordially invites the public to come to the schooling races and bring the children with them. Children are not admitted once the season gets under way. There will be schooling races every night next week, through Saturday in preparation for the season's opening.

Phillie Rookies Put Club in Fight

By JACK RAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

First it was the St. Louis Browns and now it's the Phillies spinning a fancy win streak when they are supposed to be playing dead in the second division.

Freddy Fitzsimmons' mixture of hustling minor leaguers and holdovers from the 1943 seventh place outfit have won five and tied one since their last defeat, April 28. The Yankees, too, have a five-game streak and the Browns have won 12 of 15 games.

Ken Raffensberger, who spent last year with Los Angeles, southpawed his way to a four-hitter, and Ron Northey smacked a two-run homer as the rejuvenated Phils shaded Brooklyn, 3-1. It was the first loss for Curt Davis and a happy homecoming for Fitz whose club could take the lead by beating the Dodgers again today provided Cincinnati tops St. Louis.

Nick Etten was Mr. Big in the Yanks' 11-7 triumph over the Red Sox, clubbing Tex Hughson and Joe Wood Jr., for a homer, double and single, batting in two runs and drawing four walks to boost his average to .488. Etten now has hit safely in 11 consecutive games since Yank Terry and Mike Ryba "horse-collared" him opening day

Hughson, who used to beat the New York club by tossing his glove on the mound, was one of seven starting pitchers who failed to go the route in yesterday's four games. Raffensberger was the only exception.

Both Early Winn of Washington and Jesse Flores of the Athletics were rapped hard and often, but Ossie Bluege of the Nats was able to come up with better relief pitching and a seven-run spurt in the last two innings for an 11-8 verdict.

The A's led 8-4 going into the eighth but the Nats tied it and won in the final frame when Stan Spence and Joe Kuhel exploded home runs. Johnny Sullivan, Washington shortstop, collected four hits and batted in four runs

Cold weather froze out the Pittsb u rgh-Chicago and Cincinnati-St. Louis games in the National and wet grounds postponed the St. Louis-Cleveland and Chicago-Detroit American League tilts.

N. U., Bates Tangle In Brookline Today

Northeastern University's baseball team will have several changes in its line-up in the home encounter with Bates College at 2 p. m. today at Huntington Field, Brookline. Marty Alves of New Bedford, star basketball player last winter, will play first base instead of Al DiScipio, Chelsea. Roger Tuttle, Westford Academy, Lowell, will replace George Giroux, South Hadley, in the infield because the latter has an injured finger. John Smialek, Holyoke, will move from third base to shortstop, and Tuttle will play third base. Frank Mondana of Chelsea will be the new right fielder.

Frank Rosato of Somerville will pitch against the Bobcats. Northeastern has beaten New Hampshire and tied and lost to Connecticut, and lost to Worcester Tech.

St. Clement's Title Bound

By MIKE GILLOOLY

St. Clement's High School baseball team wasted no time in asserting itself as a logical candidate for the championship of the Northern Division of the Catholic League. Tomorrow afternoon, the Somerville nine of Coach Jim Cassell will attempt to take over an undisputed first place in the standings at the expense of Cathedral High in the feature game of the usual Sunday schedule at the Randolph st. grounds, South End.

St. Clement's served notice on the rest of the league that things would be close this season in the opening game by whipping defending champion St. Mary's of Lynn, 4-0.

Since, Coach Cassell's boys have been bagging victories with amazing consistency to take over a prominent role in interscholastic competition. Triumphs in the league battling followed against Malden Catholic, St. John's (earlier this week) and Immaculate Conception of Revere. These four victims installed St. Clement's into a first place deadlock with undefeated Cathedral, its rival tomorrow.

Considering that Coach Cassell, taking over for Vin Cronin this season, had only three veterans back on his squad, there's plenty of credit due the St. Clement's outfit. It's a question whether the boys can keep up its present torrid pace but if they should, they'll warrant consideration in the ballioting for places in the Eastern State championship.

John "Lefty" Davis, a veteran, and Sam Collins, a right-hander, stand out as the aces of the pitching staff with Jim Magno coming in for his share of mound assignments.

Leahy to Coach At Bainbridge

BAINBRIDGE, Md., May 6 (AP)—Reports from Chicago that Lieut. Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame gridiron coach, will take over the football coaching reins at Bainbridge Naval Training Station this fall is news to them, say officials at this Maryland installation.

Athletic department spokesmen reiterated today their pronouncements that the No. 1 choice for the post was Lieut. Joe Maniaci, former Fordham Rams and Chicago Bears backfield ace, who piloted the Commodores through a brilliant season last fall.

Platak in Finals Of Two Events

CHICAGO, May 6 (AP)—Joe Platak, "ironman" of handball, today had a chance of repeating his performance of 1937 in the National A. A. U. handball tourney winning two titles.

Seaman Platak, eight-time senior single champion, won his only two-man national title seven years ago and today was in the finals in both events.

By BILL GRIMES

BRAVES FIELD, May 6—The Braves won their third game in a row when Red Barrett whipped the Giants. Voiselle worked for the visitors and was relieved in eighth.

Final Score—Brave 4, Giants 1.

FIRST INNING

GIANTS—Wietelmann threw out Hausmann and Rucker. Gladu threw out Ott. NO RUNS.

BRAVES—Holmes was safe on Hausmann's fumble. Macon bunted safely and Holmes went all the way to third. Holmes scored and Macon reached third on a wild pitch. Hausmann threw out Nieman, Macon holding third. Workman hit to Weintraub and Macon was out at the plate, Weintraub to Lombardi. O'Neil Scores One for Sox

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, May 6—Emmett O'Neil, slim left-hander who beat the Yankees in his first start in the afternoon game on Patriots' Day, was Manager Cronin's choice in the second game of the series.

Lefty Joe Page, who has one decision over Washington, opposed the Sox.

Leon Culberson replaced Metkovich in centerfield. About 7500 fans turned out.

FIRST INNING

RED SOX—Culberson fouled to Savage. Fox popped to Stirnweiss. Manager Joe Cronin, when he came to bat made a protest to Umpire Summers about Joe Page's delivery then the game continued. Cronin singled. R. Johnson took a third strike. NO RUNS.

YANKEES—Stirnweiss singled. Rosenthal struck out. Metheny got a ground rule double when his drive bounced into the right field seats sending Stirnweiss to third. Etten was purposely passed filling the bases. Stirnweiss scored, Metheny took third as Savage forced Etten, Tabor to Doerr. Lindell forced Savage, Doerr to Lake. ONE RUN.

SECOND INNING

RED SOX—Doerr struck out Tabor went out the same way. Partee singled, and went out trying to stretch it to second, Metheny to Stirnweiss. NO RUNS.

YANKEES—Milosevich struck out. Hemsley singled. Page lined to Tabor whose throw to Cronin doubled up Hemsley. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

RED SOX—Lake singled and took second on a wild pitch. O'Neil attempted to sacrifice and popped a single over Savage's head, scoring Lake and then went out trying to stretch the hit, Savage to Milosevich. Culberson was called out on strikes. Fox singled. Cronin popped to Stirnweiss. ONE RUN.

YANKEES—Stirnweiss beat out a bunt. Rosenthal flied to Culberson. Metheny popped to Doerr. Stirnweiss stole second and continued to third on Partee's wild throw past second for an error. Etten was purposely passed. Tabor threw out Savage. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

RED SOX—R. Johnson got a two-base hit when Lindell couldn't hold his long drive. Then went to third on a wild pitch. Doerr lied to Lindell, R. Johnson scoring after the catch. Tabor struck out. Partee walked. Lake flied to Metheny. ONE RUN.

YANKEES—Lindell fouled to Partee. Milosevich singled. Hemsley singled. Page hit into a double play, Lake to Doerr to Cronin. NO RUNS.

On Sidelines—George "Tuck" Stainback is shown in Yanks dugout, where he saw his teammates come through with an 11 to 7 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Stainback suffered a bone fracture above the right ankle in Tuesday's game in Philadelphia. His leg will be in a cast for five or six weeks.
